DOLLAR DRESS DAY

This month's Dollar Dress Day is Friday, October 27. However, since students will already be dressing up for Red Ribbon Week, HPA will host another Dollar Dress Day next Friday, November 3.

Students do not need to donate a dollar to participate this Friday for Red Ribbon Week. However, if they are not dressed in conjunction with the theme (see details below) and would like to do a regular Free Dress Day this Friday, the dollar donation collected at the door will go to an HPA family in need.

RED RIBBON WEEK

HPA is celebrating National Red Ribbon Week this week through Friday, October 27. The mission of Red Ribbon Week is to help keep kids drug-free. Students are invited to dress according to each day's theme, in school appropriate fashions of course.

Elementary and Middle School:

Tuesday: Give drugs "the boot"! Wear your best Western gear.

Wednesday: Your future is too bright for drugs! Wear neon colors and sunglasses.

Thursday: Don't be tacky! Stay drug-free. Let's see your tackiest, yet school-appropriate, outfit.

Friday: Team up against drugs! Wear your favorite sports team gear.

Wednesday: You are too bright for drugs. Wear neon/bright colors.

Thursday: Don't disappoint your parents. Dress as a BBQ dad or a soccer mom.

Friday: Leave drugs in the past. Come dressed as your favorite decade.

HIGH SCHOOL RESOURCES

We have a number of great resources for high school students on our HPA Guidance/Counselors web page. On this page, you will find references to PADLETs. PADLETs are educational sites that host a collaborative web platform for users to share content, resources and information. Informally, a PADLET is like a live bulletin board. Dr. Stone has created 4 very user-friendly PADLETs that share meaningful and time-sensitive material as it pertains to colleges, careers, graduation, social and emotional wellness, senior bulletins, and career pathways. You will also find a Course Description Guide and testing dates for all grades.
